Summer School 2017 - BIOECONOMY

This Summer School is an international cooperation within the scope of the Euroleague for Life Sciences (ELLS) and is organised by faculties and departments that join forces from various fields of expertise (e.g. renewable energy, primary production, forestry, food science, economy/marketing) under an umbrella of “bioeconomy”. It addresses bioeconomy issues in interdisciplinary views and aims to bring students and teachers from various countries and fields to work together in order to discuss and talk about actual topics and problems of bioeconomy. After active and successful participation in the summer school course, students will be able to:

- understand and describe fundamental concepts of the bioeconomy,
- identify and understand theoretical as well as practical relations in the value chain from the perspective of bioeconomy,
- identify the role of bioeconomy in research and development policy and know their instruments,
- analyse possibilities of implementing concept of bioeconomy in their activities and education, possibly focused on traditional sectorial approach.

Schedule

28th August – 1st September 2017: Intensive Summer School at the Warsaw University of Life Sciences in Warsaw (Poland). The underlying idea of the Summer School is to give students the opportunity to work in international and cross-sectional teams prior and during the week in Warsaw. Students are obliged to do preliminary work (e-learning) in June and July, so they will:

- be introduced into the issues of the bioeconomy and methodology of poster presentation through e-learning,
- run quantitative and qualitative analysis of the bioeconomy sector in their home countries prior to the Summer School (teams of two persons),
- present results as posters during the week in Warsaw.

The deadline for posters' submission is 23rd July 2017
